One Lingering Look Behind I Cast...

Alone I walked the ocean strand,
A pearly shell was in my hand;
I stooped and wrote upon the sand
My name—the year—the day.

• • •

As onward from the spot I passed,
One lingering look behind I cast,
A wave came rolling high and fast,
And washed my lines away.

One Lingering Look I Cast . . . at PEOPLE

One lingering look at leisure

A movie date, a chat with the gang at the Pizza Hut, that all-important dance add spice to the school routine. Acquaintances made in the classroom often matured into full-fledged friendships. A pal to cheer you when you lose your steady girl, a group to feel comfortable with in the cafeteria, a friend to get your assignments when you are absent are all essential to student life. The best part of school life is the friends you make and the knowledge that you matured.

. . . and wonder about the future

Things going on in the world today affect the students more than ever before. World affairs pose vital questions in their minds. How long will the Vietnam War last? What will life be like in the next fifteen years? Will the vote for eighteen year olds be successful? Will the peace talks produce results? Will astronauts land on Mars in this decade? In view of the contrast between the state of the world a generation ago and in this generation, we ponder the future as we cast that lingering look behind.

A swinging look at spring and other things.

Spring brings about many outside activities for Taylor students. Many couples found that a trip to the park was very enjoyable. Whether it was feeding the ducks, having a picnic, or just swinging on the swings. Coloring Easter eggs was also an interesting way to spend an afternoon over Easter vacation.

A few students had outside jobs working with volunteer organizations in hospitals, in the fire department, or for PACE.

A glance at getting and spending

What do Taylor students do in addition to their regularly scheduled classes and extra curricular activities at school? In many businesses of this community you will find them selling clothes, jewelry, notions, and even popcorn and hamburgers.

Not only do students work and earn money, but they also spend money in many varied ways. You will see teenage couples gazing dreamily at engagement rings or congregating near the entrance to the Cinema, while other students are trying out new records at their favorite record shop.

"71" Miss Titan and Court

Annually, the yearbook staff sponsors the election of Miss Titan. Each club nominates one senior girl as its candidate. From all the senior girls nominated, the student body chose five finalists; these five finalists vied for the title of "Miss Titan."

This year's Miss Titan and her court were chosen for their outstanding qualities, not for looks alone. During their time at Taylor, they kept busy in several ways: Cindy and Sherri in cheerleading; Terry and Debbie in office practice; and Angela in GAA. They were also involved in other activities such as: Band, FTA, cheerblock, and class offices.

We looked toward our future . . .

A sigh of relief and the shed of a tear go along with the graduation of most seniors. But the members of the class of "71" will always have happy moments to look back on. They started their final year off by making plans for the gift they would leave to the school. Due to the success of their money making projects they were able to donate two gifts in their name. The first was the painted center circle on the gym floor, which was completed by the beginning of December.

They then voted to erect in front of the high school building a marquee which would announce the forth-coming events. It would be constructed over the summer.

The senior class sponsored the traditional Christmas dance and put alot of work into their preparations. Several class members chose, cut down, and decorated a seventeen foot Christmas tree and hung crepe paper bells to carry out their theme "Silver Bells." The main attraction of the night was the crowning of Miss Titan.

Senior's class motto "We've Only Just Begun"

This years graduates' found that being a senior and knowing that graduation is close at hand was not as easy as it had sounded. It meant an end to old friends, clubs, dances, social gatherings... but a beginning to new and different walks of life. "We've only just begun," the motto chosen by the class of "71", reveals their acceptance to the fact that although they have anxiously waited for graduation it is not the end but a new beginning.

After 12 years of hard work, May 23, 1971 was that long awaited day in the lives of Taylor's graduating seniors. The guest speaker at the commencement ceremony was Don J. Odle, basketball coach at Taylor University. He related his past experiences on the way things are for students today. The theme of his speech was centered around. "The Crisis of the Hour."

With tough competition in the final days of high school and intensive study, Randall F. Brantley succeeded in being the valedictorian; closely followed by William R. Barrett, salutatorian. They each presented their final speech to the graduating seniors expressing their own personal point of view on today's problems.

Among the many activities of the junior class were working concessions at basketball games and raising money for the annual Junior-Senior Reception by selling magazines and washing cars.

Several juniors were privileged to be foreign exchange students. They were Karen Akers, Susie Grant, Mike Baer, Sherry Wooley, Keith Myers Phil Pochon, and Victor Johnston.

The junior class donated $50.00 to each student. The Spanish Club donated $50.00 each to Keith, Victor and Sherry. The French Club donated $40.00 to Karen, Susie, and Phil.

Sophomore Day is big success

A shiny new class ring with a red and black shield; a black sweater with red trim, and a brand new driver's license distinguished many students as sophomores this year. For many a driver's license resulted in that all important first date and more active participation in class projects and organizations.

The sophomores' major project, the Black Cat Ball, featured all the thrills and chills of Halloween. Costumed couples danced to the "Allroot" amid pumpkins, cornstalks, and a bubbling cauldron. Gary Surber and Janet De Long were selected "Pumpkin Prince and Princess."

Sophomore Day, full of fun and food, was held at Highland Park the day before school.

Freshmen earns money at coat check

Freshmen year is the year that involvement in sports, clubs, and activities really begins. It is also the year in which money will be needed for costly future projects.

Class officers were president Grant Ellabarger, vice president

Art Meyer, and secretary Donna Berndt. These students, with the help of Mr. Hankins, Miss Oyler and Miss Schrock, were busy building up the class treasury by running the coat check at varsity basketball games.

The freshmen did take time out for fun, however. The girls defeated the juniors in the class basketball tourney and went on to beat the sophs to become the champs.

Taylor School board boosts staff to guidance secretary

Mrs. Kathleen Cannon, who has been in charge of the cafeteria at Taylor Elementary for 2½ years, supervised the bookstore, tallied the daily cafeteria receipts, and banked the money taken in by all three of the corporation's cafeterias.

Mrs. Mary Lou Meadows, the new guidance secretary, assisted the guidance counselors in such activities as scheduling, typing, and keeping permanent records. Mrs. Wooldridge and Mr. Davis had previously been dependent on their student assistants for aid.

The financial secretary for the high school was Mrs. Dorothy Hunter, whose duties included keeping financial records for extra curricular organizations.

Taylor also built a new elementary gym, a library, and two classrooms.

Junior High acquires guidance counselors

Jerry Lamberson and Linda Donelson, Junior High guidance counselors, did much to lighten the work load of the High School counselors by advising seventh and eighth grade students about academic or personal problems, arranging parent-teacher conferences, and scheduling eight graders for their first year of high school.

Two new faces, Jenny Appleton and Judy Suter, were added to the cafeteria staff. Millie Brown, former cook, accepted the position of secretary at Taylor Elementary.

Teachers treasure little successes

Scheduling a film from the AV department, announcing a club meeting for after school, helping a pupil with a problem are examples of daily tasks of teachers sandwiched in between planning lessons and grading papers.

However, to most teachers looking back on the school year, the memory casts back images of students with problems solved and skills acquired that overshadow the efforts involved.

Faces of the faculty reflect individual reactions to the convocation.

Cagers capture first sectional over Northwestern

The 197-71 edition of the Titan cagers achieved another first when they captured the first sectional win with a victory over the Northwestern Tigers.

This year's squad showed many signs of championship form, but the club seemed unable to put together more than two fine periods of basketball in any game.

Rick Roe led the team with a 13.6 point average while Hank Free hit 12.1 per contest.

The Titans won their first game of the season and then dropped three straight to the tougher teams on the schedule—Peru, Haworth, and Tri-Central.

The Titans played fine ball against such teams as Alexandria, Elwood, and Logansport.

They dropped a pair of one-point overtime games to Eastern; otherwise, the overall 6-16 season mark would have been that much better.

The Titans lost five seniors through graduation. Roe, Rick Keck, Mike Myers, Rod Mason, and Leonard Flaty are gone.

Such returning lettermen as Free, Tony Gabriel, Gary Rhew, and Jeff Kennell, along with some boys up from an 18-2 reserve squad give the coach good prospects for the 1971-72 season.

a After being entangled in a rebound battle with Anderson Highland, Jeff Kennell tries to escape. b Rick Roe leaps high to block Haworth's Jack Crawford's bid for two points.

Titans follow inspiring Lombardi tradition

Vince Lombardi once said, "Winning wasn't everything; it was the only thing." Vince epitomized this theory which led to his success as a football coach with the Green Bay Packers and as a human being.

Taylor's basketball teams, inspired by the will to win, worked to develop championship drive.

With an 18-2 record, the reserve squad set a standard for the junior high and frosh teams. Although not as successful as the reserves, these teams were growing in strength, character, and competitive spirit.

Gridders overcome obstacles to finish with 5-5 mark

Taylor gridders finished with a 5-5 season. Hustle, desire, and teamwork were qualities of the Titans.

Taylor grabbed wins over such foes as Northwestern and dropped encounters to Haworth and Alexandria, among others.

Dennis Bentzler rushed for over 800 yards to lead the team in running with the ball.

The Titans scored 157 points during the season. Also, during the last half of the year, the defense held their opponents to an average of less than five points per contest.

to form Range-Line Conference

Taylor began conference play for the first year in the school's history. Competition in cross country, wrestling, track, golf, and baseball began during the 1970-71 school year. Due to scheduling conflicts, conference play in basketball and football will not start until the 1972-73 season.

Schools involved in the conference are Taylor, Tri-Central, Hamilton Heights, Hamilton Southeastern, Sheridan, and Westfield. The name Range-Line was derived from the old Range-Line Road, now the U.S. Highway 31. All schools border the road.

The conference cross country meet was held with Randy Sellers running the course in 9:47.

Of course, all marks will be established with this being the first year of loop play.

Runners place second in Range-Line event

Taylor's cross country team took second place in the first Range-Line Conference cross country meet at Westfield.

Randy Sellers won the conference meet as well as capturing wins in the Marion Bennett Invitational and finished in the top twenty in the sectional.

Tony Gabriel place second for the Titans in every meet. He returns next season.

The team's best showing was in the Marion Bennett show, where Coach Bond's gang placed fifth.

Matmen win conference title; with 8-2 record!

The Taylor wrestling team won the Range-Line Conference title and finished with an 8-2 season mark.

The Titans hopped to an early win streak that paced the way all season.

Bob Sundberg and Mark Pochon advanced to the final round of the sectional but were defeated.

Sundberg had a 17-1 season record, best on the team.

The team placed seventh in the wrestling sectional and was fourth in the Western Invitational.

Pep leaders inspire Titan school spirit

Cheerleading is a difficult task. Although the glamour and prestige are always welcome, hard work, long hours of grueling competition, and having your vocal cords stretched from limb to limb are just part of the punishment undergone by each girl.

The cheerleaders at Taylor are no exception. The girls worked two nights a week after school, learning new yells, and perfecting them while the fans enjoyed coming to the games on weekends. Cheerleading is an art that takes practice, confidence, and a willingness to work.

Taylor's cheerleaders not only attended the yell-leading camp for the second consecutive year, but they also built up the school spirit that helped the teams win some crucial games.

Sellers establishes Howard County

Randy Sellers led the Titans to an improved track team this year.

Sellers set a Howard County Meet record in the mile run in a time of 4:31.1 as he bested the old mark by better than four seconds.

The team's best showing was in the Cass Relays when the squad finished second in a field of five.

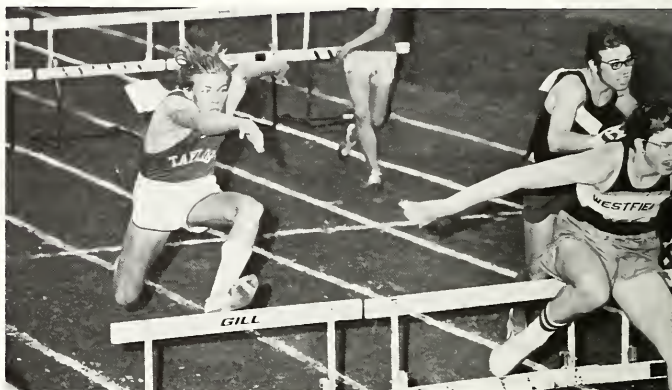

Among other accomplishments by members of the team was Tony Gabriel's victory in the Range-Line Conference two mile run.

Sellers' other feats included wins in the mile runs at the Western Invitational, the Conference meet, the Cass Relays, and Randy placed third in the Sectional.

For the first time in Taylor history, the Titans had a Regional qualifier. Sellers ran a good race in the Regional but the competition was keen and Randy failed to place.

Trackmen display individual, to wing way to emerge

a

Individual and competitive spirit were the keys to the Titan cinder success during the 1971 season.

Also, some individuals strived and performed well in classy competition.

For instance, Randy Sellers was the Titans' first performer ever in a track regional. Tony Gabriel turned in some fine performances in meets such as the County Meet and the Conference.

Because of graduation of such runners as Sellers, the Titans will have to rebuild their forces in the middle distance races.

Taylor diamond crew repeats as county champs;

Taylor's diamond contingent found the going a little rough when the Titans ran into the Haworth Huskies in the Kokomo baseball sectional. The Huskies outhit the Titans for a 6-0 victory and the sectional championship.

The Howard County Tourney proved to be a different matter as the Titans whipped Northwestern 2-0 and then edged Western 1-0 for the championship. This was the second consecutive year that coach Dan Shield's Titans had won the Howard County title.

After a relatively slow start, losing eight of the first twelve games, the Titans rallied to a respectable overall record of 16-11.

A glance at men with messages

Many men spoke at convocations, and each had an important message. Edward Sahalstrum presented an outstanding literary program "An Actor's Showcase".

Woody Valentine spoke about sports and the success that anyone could have if he wants to work for it. He challenged all students to work toward full potential. Other convos were less serious but just as enjoyable, including Helio distribution when 575 Helios were distributed to the students.

Again this year Taylor held its Annual High School Mathematics Examination. Three seniors took top honors. Scott Grant won first place. Scott's scores, along with those of second place winner Randy Sellers and third place winner Brad Webber, were sent to the national level of competition.

Taylor purchases audio-visual equipment

This year Taylor purchased 1200 dollars worth of audio-visual equipment. This equipment includes a monitor with a 19" screen, a video tape recorder, tapes, and a camera. The equipment is completely portable and can be powered by electricity or by battery.

Speech I students worked on pantomines, speech content, and speech delivery and prepared a five to eight minute speech for their final exam.

Both junior and senior English students read classical books and improved their writing ability.

Advanced Spanish and French classes prepared a Cosmopolitan Dinner, featuring various foreign foods. Both language classes had visitors from Spanish-speaking and French-speaking countries.

The Journalism students again this year put together an issue of the On Looker for their final exam.

The goal of the Business Department is to equip all of its students with a basic knowledge of business so that the student may keep pace with the rapidly changing business world.

Among the courses that were offered this year were Bookkeeping I, II; Shorthand I, II; Office Practice; and Typing I, II.

d After making a stencil in Office Practice, Debbie Bozworth and Peggy Dunn run off copies on the ink duplicator.
e Using the wireless dictating machine, Debbie Taylor completes her Shorthand I assignment.

Junior Kris Cook wins honorable mention

A scholastic art competition for high school students was held during the month of December. Kris Cook, junior, won two certificates of Honorable Mention for her two pen and ink figure drawings. They were displayed in L.S. Ayers Auditorium February 27th to March 6th.

Art I studied painting, weaving, and copper embossing. Art II studied art history from pre-history to contemporary. Advanced problems and techniques of oil and acrylic painting were studied by Art III. Independent studies of drawing and plexiglass were done by Art IV.

All of the art students displayed their accomplishments to the public in Taylor's Second Annual Art Exhibit in April.

Juniors become pages for state officials

Out of the Junior class ten were chosen to represent Taylor as pages to State Senator Merton Stanley and State Representative Allen Zirkle for one day. The days activities consisted of running errands for the officials. Among other things the U. S. History classes did a 25 page typewritten report on various subjects.

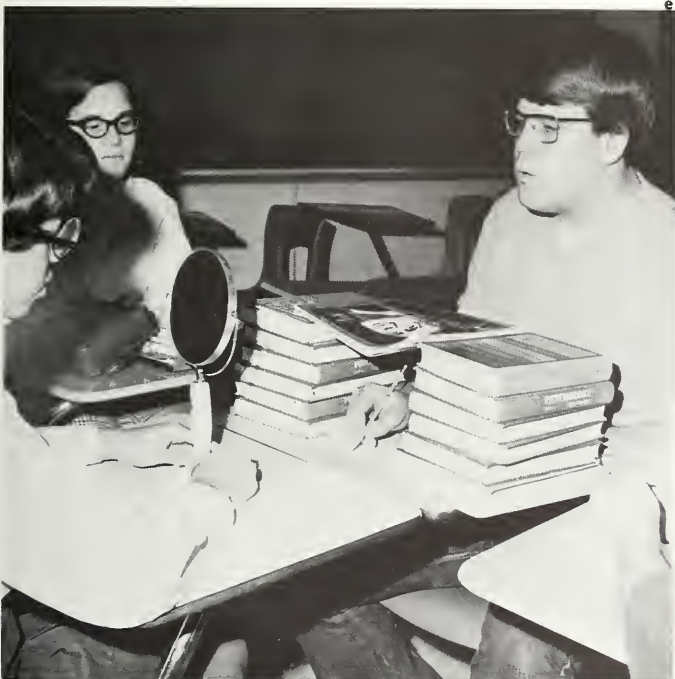

Government and 20th Century classes had a series of guest speakers. Each semester the students studied about local and national government and problems dealing with today's world.

Home Ec. cooks carry-out meals for staff

The Home Ec. IV students were kept very busy this year. Along with baking homemade cakes to complete dinners for the faculty members, they prepared a reception for the foreign exchange students which featured foods from their homelands.

All home ec. students were hard at work preparing the fashions to be shown in their annual style show. Some cooking classes tested recipes on such foods as candy, fruites, and variety meats; others visited local supermarkets.

On December 1st all of the senior girls taking home economics took the Betty Crocker test. Senior, Teresa Glass won the school's Homemaker of Tomorrow award for her knowledge of home economics. Teresa received a charm and had her test entered in competition for state and national honors.

We got it done in '71

The 1970-71 school year was a time of great change for the Helio Yearbook Staff. In October, the 11 member staff, aided by several non-member students, took an entire school day to sell advertising to local businesses.

The first two grading periods were used to train new staffers and to cover the fall activities of the school year. The more experienced members learned to use three column layouts and clustered captions.

New was given the nod

New was given the nod for the '70-71 On Looker Staff. Larry Surrisi shined in the new "mis" adventures of Tyrone Titan. Tyrone is a super hero in a column that came out on the newspaper's page three. But Tyrone is not the only change. The letter design for the newspaper's name changed for the first time when the type was made darker and bolder. The new type was designed by advanced art students.

Tele-Titans were sold by the staff after they had spent many months of hard work compiling names, addresses, and telephone numbers.

The twenty-five staffers sponsored by Mrs. Linda Donelson, recorded the events of the school year in an interesting and new way.

Sponsored by Mrs. Sue Deason, the girls of Tri-Hi-Y hosted a Halloween party for underprivileged children. The club also visited an old folks home. They made stuffed animals and donated them to the Neighborhood House.

Several overnight parties were staged at the Y. The final event was the "End of the Year" party which included bowling and an all night party.

Going door to door to collect canned goods for the needy was one of the service projects that challenged the Boy's Hi-Y group in 1970-71.

Out of deep and sincere concern of the poor of Kokomo, the Hi-Y also sold candy and used all the profits to send needy children to camp.

Hi-Y also enjoyed a season of swimming and playing basketball. These teens also had fun at their annual Overnight Membership Drive held to encourage new members and to promote fellowship in the group.

Language clubs boost foreign exchange fund

This year the Spanish and French Clubs gave their support to members of the Taylor Student Body. By donating much of their club funds they helped make several dreams come true by helping send students to Europe and South America as Foreign Exchange Students.

The French Club ended the year with a field trip to Francis Park at Logansport.

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Fosmire had several parties throughout the year.

The Future Secretaries was a very active club with its educational field trips, movies, and guest speakers. The club also had several successful parties.

Senior Carol Wilmoth proved to be a very active member and a true asset to the club by winning several honors and secretarial contests. Carol was also offered a chance for a scholarship.

This year the Future Homemakers of America sponsored by Miss Lowery and Miss Evans provided fun and extra-curricular learning for the 15 girls involved.

Students discover there's more to member

Joining a club is easy, but being an active member is another matter. Active clubs require action from their membership.

Candy Strippers exchange hours of service to hospital patients for the feeling of being needed.

Certain clubs, such as Science Club, Industrial Arts Club, and Historical Society, allow a student to expand his knowledge of a favorite school subject.

Other clubs allow their members to explore a future career. FTA members actually taught classes; Health Careers members toured St. Joseph Hospital in Kokomo among their many activities.

The Student Council sponsored an International Day in which many exchange students visited Taylor.

There is truly more to being a club member, than being present for the group picture; you must get involved.

tion all the members and their parents were guests at a reception in the home economics room.

Competition proves practice to be rewarding

Mr. Jerry Daniels has made the Taylor High School Band the best Taylor has ever had. It not only increased in size, but in quality. This year the concert band grew from 65 to 95 members. The band always had fine performances throughout football season and they performed at two annual fish fries. They participated in a "sell-out" performance at Havens Auditorium and received a 2nd at the state contest. Their many accomplishments have made them one of the finest bands in Howard County.

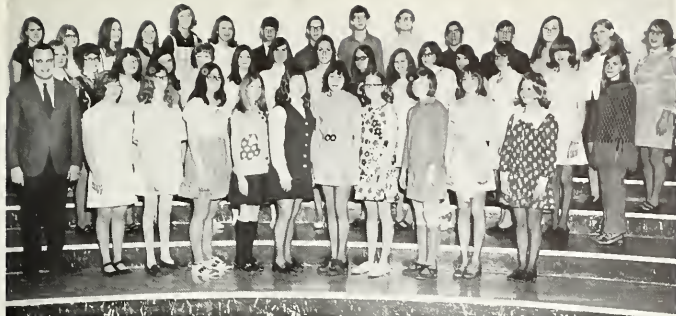

The Taylor High School Choir was another active musical group this past year. Under the direction of Mr. Rose, they spent many hours practicing for their various performances — a program for the Lions Club, the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, the Style Show, and several other club meetings. But the most important of these performances were the Howard County Festival, which Taylor choir members attended along with choir members from the surrounding high schools, and the choir contest held at Delphi, in which they placed 3rd.

The Cheerblock for Taylor this year was a highly spirited one. It consisted of 135 members. The sponsors were Miss Walters and Mrs. Beck. They both did a tremendous job in boosting spirit by organizing pep sessions.

The Cheerblock also had a contest for the boy with the "sexiest legs" in which the winner received a lacy garter.

Taylor has had a fine Cheerblock in the past, and next year it should be even better.

Bruce models his "sexy legs" for the audience.

"Arms and the Man", a successful production

The Dramatics Club sponsored two plays this year. Their Christmas production and "Arms and the Man". The Dramatics Club and Thespians Club were sponsored by Mrs. Boardman and Mrs. Kromroy. They put a lot of effort into the production of "Arms and the Man", and it was a success.

This was the first year for the Debate Club. Mrs. Richter was the sponsor. Since this year was the first year that Taylor was in competition, there was only three meets scheduled.

With the expert advice of Mr. Jerry Lamberson and Mrs. Joy Richter, the 1970-71 Helio Staff has completed Volume 5 of the Taylor High School yearbook.

Throughout the years the Helio has strived to change with the times, to try suggestions and new ideas. Pam Wagner, Charles Wolf, Cindy Giles, Dawn Miller, and Allen Holder, along with several members of next year's staff were taken by Mrs. Moorcroft to Notre Dame University where they took several classes. New styles and modern yearbook techniques were illustrated, as were new photography techniques.

Many thanks go to Mr. Larry Glaze of Paragon Yearbooks who helped teach us the new three column approach and the clustered caption effect.

The staff could not fail to thank Mr. Ted Hitz for his help in loaning cameras to our own photographer and for coming out to photograph the different clubs for the Organization Section. He was always quick to respond to our cries of help when we needed a picture to meet a deadline.

I would also like to thank Tom Young, my assistant editor for aiding me in my attempt to edit this book. Tom also picked up photos in Kokomo and took our photographer to several activities to take pictures.

Charles Wolf did a great job in organizing the photography department of the staff. His photography was excellent, and Mr. Hitz said that more of Charles' photos turned out than any other student photographer's in the county. In addition to acting as photographer, Charlie assembled the Advertisement Section of our book.

Many thanks to the rest of my staff, the faculty for their cooperation, and to all the students in the school who gave us their support.
